REAL SKILLS. REAL INCOME. NO HYPE.

This guide was built for Caribbean children abroad who are serious about building real income with real work. No fluff. No theory. Just the steps that work.

Why Furniture Assembly Is the Perfect Weekend Business

No truck. No license. Just a drill and patience.

IKEA sells over 800 million pieces of furniture every year. Almost none of it comes assembled. Every piece that lands in a Caribbean family's home in New York, London, or Toronto needs to be built by someone — and that someone can be you. Furniture assembly is one of the highest-margin services a young person can offer because the customer has already paid hundreds of dollars for the furniture and does not want to spend their weekend on the floor surrounded by confusing instructions.

1 How much you can earn

A simple bookshelf takes 45 minutes. Charge $100–$150. A wardrobe takes 2 hours. Charge $200–$300. A full bedroom set takes half a day. Charge $350–$500. Your effective hourly rate — working efficiently — runs $100–$180 per hour.

2 Why Caribbean families are your best first clients

Caribbean households invest seriously in their homes. A new apartment gets furnished properly. A child's room gets the full setup. The diaspora parent who just moved into a new place in Toronto has six IKEA boxes stacked in the hallway and zero desire to spend their Sunday on the floor with an Allen key. That is your phone call.

YOUNG BOSS TRUTH

Unbox It. Build It. Get Paid. That is the entire business model.

Your Tools — Under $150 to Start

Everything you need. Nothing you don't.

Professional furniture assemblers do not carry 40 tools. They carry five and know how to use all of them perfectly.

1 Power drill with screwdriver bits

The single most important tool. A cordless drill with a full set of Phillips, flathead, and hex bits covers 95% of all furniture assembly jobs. Budget: $40–$80 from Home Depot, Walmart, or Amazon.

2 Allen key set (hex keys)

IKEA uses Allen keys for almost everything. A full metric and imperial set costs $8–$15 and covers every flat-pack brand you will ever encounter.

3 Rubber mallet

For joints that need gentle persuasion without damage. $8–$12.

4 Tape measure and level

For confirming dimensions and ensuring shelves are straight. $10–$15 combined.

5 Work gloves and knee pads

Protect your hands and knees on hard floors. $15–$25 combined. Professional-looking and practical.

Having the right tools is half the job. The other half is reading the instructions carefully. The customers who tried to assemble it themselves skipped the instructions. You do not.

CHAPTER THREE

Pricing, Booking and Getting Your First Clients

Price by the piece. Minimum $150. Get paid before you leave.

The furniture assembly pricing model is simple — price each piece individually, add them together, present the total before you start. Never quote by the hour. The faster and better you get, the less you earn per job if you charge hourly. Price by the piece and your income grows as your skill grows.

1 Per-piece pricing guide

TV stand: $75-$125 · Bookshelf: $100-$150 · Wardrobe/closet: $200-$300 · Bed frame: $150-$250 · Desk: $100-$150 · Dresser: $125-$175 · Full bedroom set (4 pieces): $400-$600

2 Finding your first clients

Caribbean community Facebook groups and WhatsApp networks. Post: 'I assemble furniture professionally — IKEA, Wayfair, Amazon. Caribbean families in [city] — DM me for a quote.' One post. One client. Build from there. Nextdoor is your second channel. Every neighbor who just moved in is a potential booking.

YOUNG BOSS TRUTH

Always photograph your completed work. Before and after photos from your first five jobs become your portfolio for the next fifty.

BUILD YOUR BUSINESS WEBSITE – PERSONAL NOTE

While all the steps in this guide work to get your first clients through community outreach, Once you have regular furniture assembly clients, a simple booking page where they can request a quote and choose a date makes you look professional and captures leads automatically. I found it significantly easier to use Lovable — an AI-powered site builder where you describe what you want and it builds a professional site in minutes. No coding. No templates to wrestle with. Check it out for yourself.
